LAST SESSION

Of the School Board Investigating Committee Tonight.

The School Board Investigating Committee will hold another meeting tonight, which may conclude its work.

At any rate it will be decided whether or not a special meeting of the Board will be called to hear its report. It is probable that a meeting may be called for Monday evening. In fact Stephen P. Hartzell, a member of the Investigating Committee, made a motion to the effect that the Board meet Monday evening but it was lost. At that time it is thought the whole matter will be revised.

LATE LOCALS.

REPLEVIN PROCEEDINGS.—Andrew Singer has had a writ of replevin issued for the recovery of a pool table and equipments from W. W. Dilley, lately in the saloon business. The case will be heard in Justice Hard's court Saturday morning. Singer's contention is that he sold the goods to Dilley on payments, with the understanding that if he did not meet the same he was to deliver up the goods. Dilley refuses to surrender the articles in question.

STILL ALARM.—The chemical engine was called to Crosby street at 7:15 o'clock Wednesday morning to extinguish a tar kettle which had caught on fire.

TO THE ENCAMPMENT.—About 50 persons from this place went to Youngstown Wednesday morning to attend the G. A. R. encampment.

LIQUOR CASE CONTINUED.—The case against Chas. and F. A. Menches, proprietors of Summit Lake park, accused by Samuel H. Mantle, an Akron carpenter, with selling liquor on Sunday, and for which a hearing was to have been given Tuesday, has been continued in Justice Hoffman's court until Friday afternoon.

PYTHIAN SISTERS.—The annual picnic of the Pythian Sisters was held at Lakeside Park Wednesday.

Battle of Manila, Randolph park tonight.

Re-born to Save Room.—Down here they saw the horns off the "wild" or Texas cattle before they ship them east. The animals pack better, take up less room in the cars, are not so likely to injure one another and look better to the buyer. A Texas steer may carry just as much beef and tallow as a muley cow, but his long horns make him look leaner. Texas cattle have a bad reputation, too, and when their horns are sawed off they look as innocent and harmless as a barnyard heifer.

A GREAT WRESTLER.

His Encounter With the Car and His Ignoble Reward.

One of the stories of Peter the Great which are current at the court of St. Petersburg is of the great czar's wrestling match with a young dragon. Once in the imperial palace—the story goes—Peter was at table with a great many princes and noblemen, and soldiers were posted within the hall. The czar was in a joyous mood, and, raising, called out to the company: "Listen, princes and boyars! Is there among you one who will wrestle with the czar?" There was no reply, and the czar repeated the challenge.

"No prince or nobleman dared to wrestle with his sovereign. But at once a young dragon stepped out from the ranks of the soldiers on guard. "Listen, Orthodox czar," he said, "I will wrestle with thee!"

"Well, young dragon," said Peter, "I will wrestle with thee, but on these conditions: If thou throwest me, I will pardon thee; but if thou art thrown, thou shalt be beheaded. Wilt thou wrestle on those conditions?"

"I will, great czar," said the soldier. They closed, and presently the soldier with his left arm threw the czar and with his right he prevented him from falling to the ground. The sovereign was clearly beaten. The czar offered the soldier whatever reward he should claim, and he ignobly claimed the privilege of drinking free, as long as he lived, in all the inns belonging to the crown. "What became of him history does not say."

A GREAT WRESTLER.

His Encounter With the Car and His Ignoble Reward.

One of the stories of Peter the Great which are current at the court of St. Petersburg is of the great czar's wrestling match with a young dragon. Once in the imperial palace—the story goes—Peter was at table with a great many princes and noblemen, and soldiers were posted within the hall. The czar was in a joyous mood, and, raising, called out to the company: "Listen, princes and boyars! Is there among you one who will wrestle with the czar?" There was no reply, and the czar repeated the challenge.

"No prince or nobleman dared to wrestle with his sovereign. But at once a young dragon stepped out from the ranks of the soldiers on guard. "Listen, Orthodox czar," he said, "I will wrestle with thee!"

"Well, young dragon," said Peter, "I will wrestle with thee, but on these conditions: If thou throwest me, I will pardon thee; but if thou art thrown, thou shalt be beheaded. Wilt thou wrestle on those conditions?"

"I will, great czar," said the soldier. They closed, and presently the soldier with his left arm threw the czar and with his right he prevented him from falling to the ground. The sovereign was clearly beaten. The czar offered the soldier whatever reward he should claim, and he ignobly claimed the privilege of drinking free, as long as he lived, in all the inns belonging to the crown. "What became of him history does not say."

PREVENTING CONSUMPTION.

The Cure of Catarrh the Most Potent Agency Toward Staying Its Progress.

To Correct False Impressions Dr. Ramsey Explains Definitely Why it is That While Catarrh Does Not Cause all Cases of Consumption, all consumptives Were Subject to Catarrh.

While Catarrh does not cause all cases of consumption, it is also true that all those who have consumption have been subject to Catarrh. All consumptives were Catarrh victims. They took cold, catarrh had prepared the way for consumption, tubercular consumption ever requires a break in the membrane which lines the breathing tubes. Catarrh furnishes the broken place in the form of raw spots. The germs of consumption from the air can only enter the system when they find a raw, sore, discharging surface. Catarrh creates just such a surface. Every catarrh sufferer is in danger of contracting consumption whenever he or she breathes in the air that has just been breathed out by one who has tubercular consumption.

Dr. Ramsey can cure your catarrh; he has the latest and most improved methods of treatment; his treatment is new and different from others, and can only be had from him.

turbed. My friends all thought I had Consumption, and I feared so myself. I became so weak that I could attend so scarcely any of my household duties. When I had about given up all hopes of ever recovering my health, I was persuaded to go to Dr. Ramsey. The first month's treatment brought an improvement. This gave me courage, and I followed the treatment up faithfully, and today I am a well woman. I have no more cough or difficulty in breathing, I sleep well and awake refreshed. My appetite is good and my strength has returned.
